Welcome

Choosing the right university isn't easy. I became Birmingham's Vice-Chancellor only recently, but seeing and experiencing the University first hand made the prospect of joining it irresistible. The University of Birmingham is a distinguished university, on a glorious campus, in a great city. Its attraction lies in the fact that its heritage reaches back over 100 years, and it looks forward as one of Britain's leading universities to the challenges and opportunities of this century: to the impact that its research and teaching will have on lives, societies and industries in the future. Our open days are designed to provide you with all the information you need to make an informed choice. There are talks and displays but, more importantly, there will be an opportunity to talk to the students and staff who live and work here, and we hope you leave with a picture of the real Birmingham.

This is one of the top universities in the UK and I am delighted that the recent results of the Research Assessment Exercise 2008 confirmed that the University's research has global reach: 89 per cent of the University's research activity was ranked as 'world leading' or 'internationally excellent'. Our teaching is very highly regarded and the quality of the student experience is amongst the best in the Russell Group. However, because we value our students so highly we are continuing to invest very substantially in our student facilities, services, and accommodation. We are also committed to improving the quality of student life and ensuring that you have access to all the support systems you need to help you achieve your potential. We also care deeply about making sure that our students feel socially integrated and supported so that they can fully benefit from university life.

During your time here the University will offer you opportunities to develop additional skills which, when combined with your academic progress, will make you still more valuable to employers. We are particularly committed to making sure that we respond to what our students need to help them develop their academic and personal capabilities: it is this that makes Birmingham students attractive to graduate recruiters. Our aim is that 'The Birmingham Graduate' will be a work of real quality.

I hope on your visit today you experience the same sense of Birmingham being not just a university but your university. If you do, you, like me, will benefit from Birmingham's eminent history, relish everything it has to offer to the modern student, and shape the future of this dynamic university.

With best wishes

DA Ealo

Professor David Eastwood Vice-Chancellor

The University

- Spends around £1 million each week on developing the campus and improving our students' learning experience
- Is at the forefront of cancer research in the UK
- Is home to the Visual and Spatial Technology Centre

 the best-equipped archaeological visualisation laboratories in Europe
- Is a university of firsts: the first university to establish a faculty of commerce; the first to establish a medical school; the first to open a women's hall of residence; and the first to run a sports programme
- Continues that tradition of discovery with our research into the treatment of cancer, pioneering work on space science, and exciting developments in nanotechnology

How to reach the University

We are pleased that you are planning to attend our open days this year. As part of our commitment to reducing our impact on the environment, we would strongly encourage you to travel by public transport when you visit the University.

Each year we welcome some 15,000 visitors to our open days; as a result, the adjacent roads and University car parks get very busy. The University has only a limited number of car parking spaces on open days and we would encourage you to plan your journey carefully.

By rail

Being the only university in the country with its own station, the easiest way to reach the University is by train. Most cross-country services to Birmingham arrive at New Street station and up to six trains an hour depart for the University on the crosscity line (final destination Longbridge or Redditch). The journey time is approximately seven minutes. The centre of the main campus is a fiveminute walk from University station. Student ambassadors (wearing lime green shirts) will be present at New Street station throughout the day to direct you.

By coach

There are frequent express coach services to Birmingham from London, Heathrow and Gatwick airports and many other UK cities. The longdistance coach station is in Digbeth in the city centre.

By bus

Numbers 61, 62, 63 and 64 travel to the University's Edgbaston and Selly Oak campuses, while the 21 and 44 serve the Medical School and Queen Elizabeth Hospital. These services all run frequently from the city centre.

Parking on campus

The high number of visitors means that the University is only able to offer a limited number of spaces on these days. If you are intending to travel by car, the University has three main car parks: South, North and Pritchatts Road car parks – guides will be present to direct and assist visitors. Parking on campus is $\pounds1$ per day (pay and display) unless you are parked in the park and ride car parks.

Park and ride

In addition to the above parking areas, there will be two park and ride car parks with free shuttle bus services. These are based at King Edwards

School playing fields (B29 7JX) and Edgbaston cricket ground (B5 7QU) – both a short distance from the University.

Park and ride will be operating on a first-come, first-served basis. Shuttle buses to and from the University will be running throughout the day, dropping off and picking up from outside the University Centre (building R23 on the map on the back page).
